

ZOLLA/LIEBERMAN GALLERY INC.

PATRICK DUEGAW

Untameable Magic: Allegories of Nature & Culture

January 29 – March 6, 2021

PATRICK DUEGAW

A Hunter's Lament (or) The Indignity of Can Openers

3-color lithograph on cotton paper

ed. 25/25

21.25 x 16.25 in.

2020

$1,750.

First Labour: Kill the Nemean Lion

This ferocious monster of a lion had a hide that was so tough, that no arrow could pierce it. Hercules skinned the lion, using its own claws.

PATRICK DUEGAW

The Silver Spoon (or) You Poor Baby

3-color lithograph on cotton paper

ed. 25/25

21.25 x 16.25 in.

2020

$1,750.

Second Labour: Kill the Lernean Hydra

The Hydra was a serpent-like monster with nine heads. If one head was severed, two would grow in its place. Hercules severed the heads quickly and cauterized the necks, effectively killing the creature.

PATRICK DUEGAW

Doe With Antlers (or) Flouting the Binary, Part 1

3-color lithograph on cotton paper

ed. 25/25

21.25 x 16.25 in.

2020

$1,750.

Third Labour: Capture the Cerynian Hind

An incredibly fast female deer with golden horns was adored and protected by the goddess Artemis. Hercules followed the hind for an entire year, capturing the animal while it slept.

ZOLLA/LIEBERMAN GALLERY INC.

PATRICK DUEGAW

Anatomically, a Stag (or) Flouting the Binary, Part 2

3-color lithograph on cotton paper

ed. 25/25

21.25 x 16.25 in.

2020

$1,750.

Third Labour: Capture the Cerynian Hind

An incredibly fast female deer with golden horns was adored and protected by the goddess Artemis. Hercules followed the hind for an entire year, capturing the animal while it slept.

PATRICK DUEGAW

The Swine King (or) An Abundance of Punica Granatum (Conceit)

3-color lithograph on cotton paper

ed. 25/25

21.25 x 16.25 in.

2020

$1,750.

Fourth Labour: Capture the Erymanthian Boar

A deadly wild boar terrorized the people of Mount Erymanthus. Hercules chased down the beast and brought it to King Eurystheus; who, out of fear, hid in a bronze jar.

PATRICK DUEGAW

Sweeping Out the Stables (or) To Clean Up After Kings

3-color lithograph on cotton paper

ed. 25/25

21.25 x 16.25 in.

2020

$1,750.

Fifth Labour: Clean the Augean Stables in a single day

Thousands of cows and other livestock lived in these filthy stables, which had not been cleaned in over thirty years. Hercules changed the course of two rivers to flood and wash the stables.

ZOLLA/LIEBERMAN GALLERY INC.

PATRICK DUEGAW

Bird-bodied, girl-faced things they are... (or) ...with hunger instabile' (Virgil, Aeneid)

3-color lithograph on cotton paper

ed. 25/25

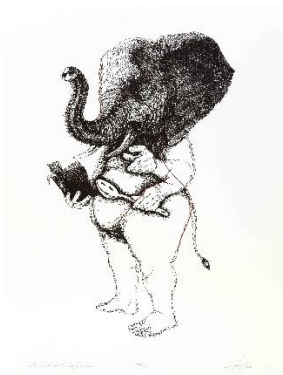

21.25 x 16.25 in.

2020

$1,750.

Sixth Labour: Kill the Stymphalian Birds

Deadly birds lived around Lake Stymphalos. Hercules coaxed them out of the trees, then killed them with poison arrows he had made from the Hydra's blood.

PATRICK DUEGAW

The Cretinous Bull (or) Serving Up Doctrine

3-color lithograph on cotton paper

ed. 25/25

21.25 x 16.25 in.

2020

$1,750.

Seventh Labour: Capture the Cretan Bull

This crazed bull was said to breathe fire and be utterly mad. Hercules wrestled the insane beast to the ground and brought it back to King Eurystheus.

PATRICK DUEGAW

The Night Mare (or) Truth Will Out

3-color lithograph on cotton paper

ed. 25/25

21.25 x 16.25 in.

2020

$1,750.

Edition 15/25 SOLD.

Edition 16/25 SOLD.

Eighth Labour: Capture the Horses of Diomedes

King Diomedes fed his horses on human flesh. Hercules fed King Diomedes to his own horses, making them tame.

ZOLLA/LIEBERMAN GALLERY INC.

PATRICK DUEGAW

Casting off the Bridle (or) Autonomy of Truth

3-color lithograph on cotton paper

ed. 25/25

21.25 x 16.25 in.

2020

$1,750.

Ninth Labour: Obtain the Girdle (or belt) of Hippolyte
Hippolyte was the queen of the Amazons and possessed a magical golden belt, or girdle. Hercules was welcomed as a friend and offered the belt, but the goddess Hera convinced the Amazons that he was their enemy, so he had to conquer the Amazons and steal the Belt of Power.

PATRICK DUEGAW

The Dogs of Service (or) Watching Over Cattle

3-color lithograph on cotton paper

ed. 25/25

21.25 x 16.25 in.

2020

$1,750.

Tenth Labour: Capture the Cattle of Geryon
The monster Geryon had a herd of special red cattle, which was guarded by his two-headed dog, Orthrus. Hercules killed the guard dog with two arrows, and gifted the cattle to King Eurystheus.

PATRICK DUEGAW

Deserting the Garden (or) The Graceful Three

3-color lithograph on cotton paper

ed. 25/25

21.25 x 16.25 in.

2020

$1,750.

Eleventh Labour: Steal the Golden Apples of the Hesperides
The Hesperides were nymphs that grew golden apples in a garden guarded by a dragon with a hundred heads. Hercules tricked Atlas, father of the nymphs, to fetch the apples for him.

ZOLLA/LIEBERMAN GALLERY INC.

PATRICK DUEGAW

Les Trois Lievres (or) The Orchestration of Belief

3-color lithograph on cotton paper

ed. 25/25

21.25 x 16.25 in.

2020

$1,750.

Twelfth Labour: Capture Cerberus

Cerberus was the three-headed guard dog of the underworld. Hercules overpowered the dog, taking him to a frightened King Eurystheus.

Cerberus was then returned unharmed to the underworld.